THIRD QUARTER REVIEW

In the third quarter, 20-20 again delivered robust operating results. Despite softer than expected license revenues, 20-20 achieved growth in revenues and operating income exceeding 14%, driven mainly by organic growth. Adjusting for the effect of the K/BIS show, revenues grew by 8.1% on an organic basis. Sound control of operating expenses allowed operating income to grow by 14.6% and EBITDA by 23.1%. However, significant exchange rate fluctuations did not allow our sound operational performance to be reflected on our bottom line results. As a result of an unrealized exchange loss, net income and earnings per share were down at $549,000 and $0.03 compared to $677,000 and $0.04 respectively in the corresponding quarter of 2006.

A WORD FROM THE CEO

Our internationally diversified product offering, strengthened both product-wise and geographically by our strategic acquisitions and their integration, contributed to our performance as we registered continued strength in revenues from the commercial and residential markets, offset by a decline in revenues from manufacturing customers. This was notably the case in the United-States where we experienced a slow-down in the sales of our manufacturing solutions despite the fact that we actually have very little competition in this sector. We believe this is a result of manufacturers only delaying the purchase of our products as a consequence of the current economic environment in the U.S. We are confident that the continuous launch of new products, either developed internally or by companies we have acquired, will continue to strengthen our international market presence and contribute to 20-20's overall growth. Our product portfolio is both extensive and unique. We have achieved our goal of being the only company in our industry that can implement an end-to-end solution anywhere in the world. We also continue to demonstrate our industry-leading position as a software provider to the office interiors market. Our growth strategy is to achieve leading market share globally, in every component of the end-to-end solution. This growth will be accomplished organically and through further synergistic acquisitions thereby providing maximum benefits to our shareholders.
